Case Study

Menzies Aviation Baggage Office and Rest Room

Client: Menzies Aviation
Location: Glasgow International Airport
Value: £40,000
Timescale: Two weeks

Challenge

Pacific had to construct and fit out to an extremely tight deadline two new facilities for Menzies Aviation at Glasgow International Airport. One is a passenger-facing luggage office, while the other is a staff rest room, but both had to meet the client's requirements for a welcoming appearance while maintaining a consistent and strong corporate image.

Approach

As is always the case with commissions like these, Pacific drew on their vast experience of successfully delivering projects in security-sensitive airport environments where disruption to the busy day-to-day routines, including passenger movements, has to be kept to an absolute minimum. This expertise, allied to the company's widely acknowledged ability to complete projects of all scales to deadline, helped ensure the works progressed smoothly.

Results

The Baggage Office is warmly lit and easy to spot, a few paces away from the luggage carousels in the Arrivals Hall at Glasgow, featuring the well-known Menzies corporate shade of blue. The Rest Room boasts extensive seating, breakfast bar-type worktops, spaces to eat and to relax and locker area. Again, the corporate blue proudly declares its identity as a Menzies Aviation facility.
